

[1st April 1963]

(iii) to allot ten marks out of 50 to be awarded by the Clinical Professor of the Unit in respect of Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynæcology, Public Health, Social and Preventive Medicine for the day to day work of the students.

2. The replacement of the existing internship training by one year compulsory housemanship training will take effect for the candidates who have passed the M.B.B.S. examination in December, 1962 and who pass thereafter. (The House Surgeoncy will be of the rotating type, three months being spent in each of the four departments of Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynæcology and Public Health.

3. In regard to those who have partially finished their internship, they may put in a minimum period of six months as House Surgeons and this will be reckoned for their total period of one year of House Surgeoncy. Those who have completed their period of internship will be deemed to have done the compulsory House Surgeoncy for one year.

4. The Medical Council of India has requested all the Universities that the compulsory housemanship training may be dispensed with in the case of new graduates who opt for Armed Forces, Medical Services and that their military services may be counted towards the compulsory housemanship for purposes of full registration. The Council has also requested that in the case of candidates applying for Emergency Commission in the Armed Forces Medical Services who are already undergoing the (internship training), i.e., compulsory housemanship training as envisaged under the revised curriculum, they may be permitted to complete the remaining period of compulsory Housemanship in military service and that this may be adjusted towards fulfilment of the requirements of internship for the award of M.B.B.S. degree. The matter is under correspondence with the University of Madras.

5. These arrangements will be in force during the period of the National Emergency.
